World Organization & Public Education Corporation -
National Association for the Advancement of Psychoanalysis

NAAPNEWS
Winter 2017

MASCULINITY AND MANHOOD
Provocative, Political, Personal
the conference issue

Determination
Self Reliance

Boldness

Bravery

SPIRIT

Virility
Welcome to 2017 and NAAP 2.0.

What? 2.0? Yes, there is much exciting change afoot at NAAP where we are planning innovative projects to increase membership benefits and opportunities for participation in a vibrant community of like-minded colleagues. I'll be sharing the news as we go forward, both in separate e-blasts and in upcoming NAAP News publications.

We're on the move!

After more than 30 years housing the office on 14th Street in NYC, we are moving to new quarters. As of April 1 (hopefully no connection to April Fools' Day) NAAP's new home will be at 850 Seventh Avenue, Suite 800, with the same phone number: 212-741-0515. Many factors led to this major decision, among them a dramatic rent increase at the current space, a Trustee directive to conserve and save money for association projects, and updating our systems to be more in sync with 21st century technology. The new space is conveniently located and will provide a considerable savings of thousands of dollars per year. Once settled and furnished we'll send out photos of the new headquarters.
Several Trustees and friends have volunteered long hours, giving up valued weekend time to sift through decades' worth of voluminous accumulations and prepare for the move. Most notable among them have been: Robbie Cuccioli, Jennifer Harper, Gene Guberman, Nunzio Gubitosa, Jessica Mitchell, and Maria Taveras. Of course, Margery Quackenbush was on the scene during the week, too, welcoming and overseeing movers, getting the water cooler removed, and taking care of matters with the building management, among the many big and small tasks of such a complex move. See the collage below of early moving day!

Vince Massaro, husband of NAAP Trustee Mary Massaro and President of the International Academy of Hope (IHOPE, http://www.ihopenyc.org) wonderfully arranged for his nonprofit to take all of NAAP’s furniture for use in their new school for children suffering traumatic brain injuries. We are excited to repurpose the furnishings for such a good cause, avoid environmental pollution of dumping, and are grateful for their generous donation: funding the removal of the furniture. Take a look at IHOPE and the amazing services they provide for these enormously challenged children and their families.

Congratulations!
NAAP has received approval from New York State Department of Education to provide Continuing Education programs for Psychoanalysts. At present we are approved providers in NY for both Social Workers and Psychoanalysts. Thank you to the committee who put in all the work to get our applications through the state.

Conference 2017
This year's preliminary theme is "Leadership, Social Responsibility & Politics in the Consulting Room."
We'll be at a new venue this fall at Scandinavia House on Park Avenue in Midtown. Be sure to save the date: Saturday, November 18.

Problem Gambling Training Program
PGTP is in its second year after a successful launch. NAAP continues to be an important contributor to the program, increasing both our reach to a vulnerable population and a networking opportunity with other professions and within the State structure. Special thanks to Kirsty Cardinale, Theresa Cosgrove, and Jennifer Harper for spearheading NAAP’s participation in the program—a fantastic job.

Video Conferencing
We have implemented video conferencing options for Trustee and committee meetings, making participation more welcoming and easy for... colleagues not geographically available for NYC meetings.

Dues Multi-payment Plan
In keeping with our tech upgrade we have added an online dues payment option. As of this writing our webmaster, Stacey Pritchett, is working with PayPal to offer dues payment either on a one time basis or multi-payment plan spread throughout the year. You’ll be receiving a letter explaining the process shortly.

Let us hear from you!
All our members are NAAP’s fabric and glue. We are eager to hear more about what we can do to be the association representing your professional needs and values. With your input we can consider implementing projects and benefits that are meaningful in your professional and personal life. Please let us know any ideas you have for NAAP. We are listening and open. I can always be reached by email at patbratt@comcast.net.

More news to come on NAAP 2.0, our initiatives, the move that has so preoccupied us over the past many weeks, and how we are working to fulfill NAAP’s important mission: To unite the various schools of psychoanalytic thought and to ensure the advancement, recognition, and sustainability of the independent profession of psychoanalysis.

[Signature]
President
Masculinity and Manhood

by Claire Steinberger

NAAP’s 44th annual conference (November 12, 2016) was ripe for ideas on sexual and gender identifications and the critical feelings and values that stir beneath today’s evocative sociopolitical and cultural landscape. The recent election triggers a broad swathe of gender considerations, engaging a kaleidoscopic view of provocative, personal, and political roles that beg for identification typologies.

More.

THE PRESENTERS

John Madonna, PsyD
The Darkness of Night—Masculinity in Crisis: Clinical Implications

John Munder Ross, PhD
On the Feminization of "A Man's World"

Donna Bassin, PhD

Judith Kegan Gardiner, PhD
2016 Gradiva® Award Winners and Nominees

Karl Hochschwender accepting the award for Best Art on behalf of Lilli Gettinger for “Psyche, Symbol, and Trauma: The Art of Lilli Gettinger (1920-1999)”, with Patricia Llosa and Steven Poser of the Center for Modern Psychoanalytic Studies, which curated the exhibition.
Not all of our illustrious Gradiva® Award winners were able to attend the event but luckily they did have time to share their delight:

We want to express our great appreciation to NAAP and the Gradiva Awards committee for this wonderful honor. Your award is meaningful not just because it validates the years of work that we and our authors engaged in, but also because of what we recognize as the openness of NAAP, and therefore the larger psychoanalytic community, to the huge contributions Ferenczi has made to our field.

The tragedy that befell Ferenczi as a result of his professional exile became our profession’s even greater tragedy. In an instant, multiple generations of analysts, therapists, trauma survivors and other patients were forever deprived of unique theoretical formulations, brilliant insights into the nature of therapeutic action, and vast... therapeutic wisdom and kindness. Once finally discovered and reclaimed, Ferenczi’s legacy became powerful in its ability to hold and heal. Thank you again to NAAP for supporting our efforts at furthering Ferenczi’s—and therefore all of our—work, for we are all his professional ancestors.

Adrienne Harris and Steven Kuchuck

The Legacy of Sandor Ferenczi: From Ghost to Ancestor

BEST BOOK

Efrat Ginot

and

BEST FILM
I was genuinely grateful to be exposed to this side of the male's psyche. I thought it would [be] helpful in my work with clients ... aid my understanding of the dynamics which shape a modern man's existence and existentialism.
Volunteer Detelina Stoykova, graduate of the BGSP-NJ, MA in Psychoanalysis program, is currently continuing her training in the certificate program at the Philadelphia School of Psychoanalysis.

NAAP Past President Douglas F. Maxwell and Board Member Mary Massaro checking last-minute details for the morning session.

Gradiva Committee Member Martin Gliserman, NAAP Executive Director Margery Quackenbush, and Nunzio Gubitosa.

NAAP members Don Nelson (above) and Mark Sehl join in the Q&A before the Gradiva Awards Luncheon.
Last December I attended the conference Narrative and Meaning: Implications for the Clinical Encounter, organized by the Association for Psychoanalytic Self Psychology. I heard a superb presentation by Joseph D. Lichtenberg, MD, titled Narrative and Meaning, which was drawn from the forthcoming book of the same title of which he is co-author. I was especially struck by his comparison of psychoanalysis to painting and photography. As I am both a painter and photographer as well as a psychoanalyst, I found myself particularly interested in Lichtenberg’s analogy. More.

Welcome to NAAP’s newest institute member! NYC’s Institute for Contemporary Psychotherapy recently joined our growing ranks of organizational members.

Since 1971, ICP has enjoyed a reputation as one of NYC’s oldest and most respected not-for-profit mental health training and treatment facilities.

We look forward to a long and happy collaboration.

Inhabiting Mutuality
by Rebecca Mahayag

On November 5, 2016, The Stephen Mitchell Relational Study Center held a day-long conference titled “Inhabiting Mutuality.” Over two-hundred people attended. There were three panels—each focused on a different aspect of mutuality.
The first panel, “Analytic Theory and Clinical Sensibility,” by Janine de Peyer, presented a case in which a male patient was locked into a pattern of being controlled and persecuted by his wife. The case illustrates how dissociated early childhood trauma plays out in relational dynamics. More.

---

BOOK REVIEW

When Trouble Comes

by Leonard Deutsch

When Trouble Comes may be the best, most entertaining, and down-to-earth book on creating positive outcomes in life. From the first page to the last, there is a method of thought that may not be realized by many clinicians. Through the use of good old-fashioned, true stories, the book recounts the path of the individual's troubles. More.

WHEN TROUBLE COMES: Discovering the Themes in the Story of Your Life

Edward Wallach, MD
there is more than one way

Relational Theory
Modern Analytic
Object Relations
Contemporary Freudian
Self Psychology
Intersubjectivity

Explore our full and part-time 1-year,
3-year, 4-year, License-Qualifying and APAT programs in psychoanalysis and psychoanalytic psychotherapy at our

SPRING OPEN HOUSES

Friday April 28 at 7:00pm

Open houses will begin with information sessions, at which discussion will be led by our Executive Director, Dean of Admissions, Dean of Training, and Treatment Service Director. This is a valuable chance to learn about our various programs and to ask questions of these leaders of our community.
Following this discussion, there will be informal mingling with faculty members, supervisors, and current candidates.

Please RSVP to ppsc@att.net to confirm your attendance.

More information is available at PPSC.ORG

PPSC does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual preference, national or ethnic origin, or analytic orientation in the administration of its admissions and educational policies.
Mothers and daughters can share the most intimate of emotional ties, from wonderful to disastrous. Each influences, through a parallel process, mirroring, and often-intense resistance, the course of their lives and those around them.

Panelists in this workshop share their expertise and experiences for navigating the turbulent waters of challenging mother-daughter dyads. They offer strategies for recognizing when these relationships are interfering with personal growth and maturity, and tools for transforming into positive life forces.

This program is free. There is a $15 fee for CE certificate administration.

Maurice Lovell, PhD  Patricia Harte Bratt, PhD  Sheila Zaretsky, PhD

Judith Aukullian, LCSW  Valerie Frankfeldt, LCSW,
The schizoid individual tends to be socially evasive, yet has access to a creative inner world that (as Nancy McWilliams notes) may lead to contributions to society through innovation in the arts, science, and philosophy. Consequently, this creativity may actually provide a potential for guarded social participation. The schizoid's use of imagination and fantasy may represent an attempt to construct a compromise relationship between the self and others. More.

Fear of Success Workshop was Extremely Successful

by Susan Kavaler-Adler

Plunging beneath the Oedipal terrain, all aspects of the pre-Oedipal, psychic dynamics of fear of success were plundered in a lively lecture, Q&A, and discussion session held last October. We spoke for three hours on a Saturday morning, followed by an afternoon of experiential group sharing around themes of individual meditative visualizations. In this sharing, workshop participants spoke from their stomachs and hearts to internal world figures that came forth to hear about their conflicts of fear and subjective desire—all related to the fear of success! More.

IN MEMORIAM

We mourn the loss of Joel Bernstein, a longterm and active supporter of NAAP, both individually and for his own institutes, since our organization's founding in 1972. Joel was the original founder, with Neil Wilson, of the New Jersey Institute for Training in Psychoanalysis (1972), and later he founded the Institute for Psychoanalytic Studies which he directed since that time. Joel graduated from the National Psychological Association for Psychoanalysis in 1971. He was a staunch supporter of psychoanalysis as an independent profession, always ready to jump into the fight for us, a smart, funny guy, and a good friend.
GOOD STUFF:
Generosity, Courage, Gratitude,
Forgiveness, Resilience

18 CE Hours - For Full Conference
Saturday, June 10 - Sunday, June 11, 2017

A Weekend with Salman Akhtar, MD

at Caldwell University, Caldwell, NJ

Info at:
nj.bgsp.edu and www.acapnj.org
Choose from 14 Workshops!

Boston Graduate School of Psychoanalysis
New Jersey

Academy of Clinical & Applied Psychoanalysis
2017 marks the second year of the New York Problem Gambling Training Partnership (PGTP). Throughout the year, PGTP will offer four, two-day conferences to train NYS licensed mental health clinicians in the identification and treatment of problem gambling. Funded by New York State's OASAS, the Training Partnership is an unprecedented statewide initiative to provide training on the assessment and treatment of gambling disorder to social workers, psychoanalysts, mental health counselors, and marriage and family therapists throughout the state. PGTP is a joint initiative formed by NAAP, the New York Council on Problem Gambling, NASW-NYS Chapter, and the New York Association for Marriage and Family Therapy. More information, and access to continuing education opportunities, can be found on the PGTP website: nypgtp.org.

Institute News

March 10

Helping Your Child to Know Herself, Claudia Sheftel-Luiz, PhD, EdD

Our children, whether they are 2 or 72, push thoughts and feelings out of consciousness all the time. When they lose self-awareness, they don’t perform to their potential, they act surly and mean, they frustrate us with seemingly lazy or unproductive behavior and amaze us with poor choices. More info.

March 29

Brown Bag Lunch: Understanding Addictions - Strategies & Treatment * 1 CE hour

April 2

Our Immigrant Experiences

“I feel like I am constantly dancing between two identities.”

“The concept of home is so confusing; is it here, or is it there?”

“Because of my poor English I was hiding

APRIL 7

The Contributions of Gaetano Benedetti to the Psychoanalytic Therapy of Persons Experiencing Distressing Psychotic States, in the Light of Contemporary Affective and Social Neuroscience

Brian Koehler, PhD * 2 CECs Social Workers & Psychologists

Gaetano Benedetti has been working psychoanalytically with schizophrenic patients for over 50 years at the Burghölzli, the psychiatric hospital of the University of Zürich. Brian Koehler will review Benedetti’s contributions to the psychoanalytic therapy of persons experiencing distressing psychotic states. More info.

APRIL 28

On Subjective Space

Paola Mieli, PhD * 2 CECs Social Workers & Psychologists
So, You Think You May Want to Become a Shrink?

This information session is a discussion about the paths to becoming a psychotherapist. Talk with practicing clinicians and faculty who work in a profession that can be fascinating, gratifying in its contribution to the lives of others and an important contribution to contemporary society. Why is it important to help others say everything? What does it take to become a shrink? What is it really like? Is becoming a shrink for you or someone you know? More info.

MAY 5

Introducing Bion: Some Basic Dimensions

James Ogilvie, PhD * 2 CECs Social Workers & Psychologists

James Ogilvie will introduce an aspect of Bion’s psychoanalytic engagement with the “primitive mind,” focusing on some of the basic turns through which he engages us. Bion has a remarkable ability to bring us into a more immediate, “from the inside” contact with areas of psychic fragmentation and rebirth. We will explore how he does this, with attention to his use of images—invoking dimensionality or its absence—of space, time, and infinite extent or singular density. More info.

April 9

Mothers and Daughters: Finding Oneself in a Turbulent Relationship.

with Dr. Stanley Hayden, Moderator

Mothers and daughters may share the most intimate of emotional ties, running the gamut from wonderful to disastrous. Each influences, through a parallel process, mirroring, and often-intense resistance, the course of their lives and those around them. Panelists in this workshop share their expertise and experiences for navigating the turbulent waters of challenging mother-daughter dyads. They offer strategies for recognizing when these relationships are interfering with personal growth and maturity, and tools for transforming into positive life forces.

April 19

Introduction to Modern Psychoanalysis, with Annette Vaccaro, LCSW, ATR-BC, NCPsyA, ACS * 10 CE hours * Wednesdays, 5-week course

This course provides an overview of modern psychoanalytic theory and practice. Modern Psychoanalysis utilizes emotional communication, induction, and the clinician’s own reaction to clients’ dynamics. Modern Psychoanalysis is a treatment approach that supports the ego with strategies that improve client compliance to treatment goals. Originally developed to treat extremely regressed patients, it has been adapted and applied to a wide range of disorders and settings.

For more information on these and other events, visit the ACAP site at http://www.acapnj.org/workshops-...
ICP offers six post-graduate training programs. Join us for our 2017 Open Houses to learn more about our training opportunities:

April 23
- Professional Training Program in the Integrated Treatment of Eating Disorders
- Program in Family & Couples Treatment Services
- Psychotherapy Center for Gender & Sexuality (PCGS) Clinical Certification Program
- Integrated Trauma Training Program

April 30
- Four-Year Analytic Training Program in Psychoanalysis and Psychoanalytic Psychotherapy
- Two-Year Program in Contemporary Psychodynamic Psychotherapy

---

Modern Psychoanalytic Approaches to Understanding and Treating Addictive Disorders

This course will focus on understanding addiction as a form of self-medication, a maladaptive defense for managing unacceptable thoughts and feelings, and will emphasize treatment methods that combine psychoanalytic theory and technique with harm-reduction approaches. Case studies will be used to illustrate the theoretical material. More info.

SOCIAL WORKERS LUNCHEON

Friday, April 28, 12:00-2:00 PM

Is Psychoanalytic Training for You?

Join us for lunch to explore the ways that modern psychoanalytic training can expand your clinical insight and strengthen your clinical and super-visory skills. Complimentary lunch with RSVP. Details

---

2017 Annual Scientific Conference

"Trauma," WSI's 2017 conference, takes place on Sunday, April 2. Co-sponsored by NAAP, the conference will feature Mark Solms, PhD, presenting Repression, Repetition, Trauma, Transference and Interpretation. He will focus on the brain mechanisms underlying repetition and change, with special emphasis on pathological forms of repetition, which centrally includes traumatic neuroses like PTSD. Solms's presentation will outline the brain mechanisms of (1) repression and its consequences and (2) the other defenses.
Save the Date - March 24

Save the date for our Friday Night Dialogues event on Friday, March 24, 7-10 PM. The Dialogue of Unconscious: The Analytical Dialogue Relationship and the Use of Self workshop presented by Anthony L. Bass, PhD, will explore the nature of the psychoanalytic relationship in depth, using Ferenczi’s concept of a “dialogue of unconscious.”

Through participants sharing the experiences of difficult moments in clinical processes, the unconscious dimensions of psychoanalytic relating will be explored and examined in depth. Dr. Bass will focus on the special challenges posed by and the opportunity for deepening the analytical process with patients who evoke intense involvement and emotional reactions, from the relational perspectives.

Visit http://postgradinstitute.org for more information.

---

Member News

The fall 2016 issue of Other/Wise, the online journal of IFPE, featured IEA Executive Director Cenk Cokuslu’s paper “Tale of Pistorius: Prosthetic Aliveness as Vulnerability.” Jack Wiener, MA, also appeared in the same issue with “The Vulnerability of the Body and Awareness.”

"Analytical Psychology and Science: Adversaries or Allies?”, a paper by Mark Winborn, PhD, was published in the December 2016 issue of Psychological Perspectives: A Quarterly Journal of Jungian Thought, Vol. 59:4.

---

Authors in our Midst
New and noteworthy books by NAAP members.

African Americans and Jungian Psychology: Leaving the Shadows
Fanny Brewster

African Americans and Jungian Psychology: Leaving the Shadows explores the little-known racial relationship between the African diaspora and C.G. Jung’s analytical psychology. In this unique book, Fanny Brewster explores the culture of Jungian psychology in America and its often-difficult relationship with race and racism.

---

LIKE our FB page!

SEND us a TWEET!

---

NAAP News

2017-2018 Deadlines & Publication Schedule

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Copy Due</th>
<th>Publication</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>2017</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SPRING - March 10</td>
<td>May 26</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SUMMER - June 9</td>
<td>Aug. 25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FALL - Sept. 15</td>
<td>Nov. 3</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>